

Bio of Ilene Hyams

I grew up in Connecticut and spent many happy summers in Saybrook. I graduated from the University of Bridgeport with a Bachelor of Science degree and a Medical Technology degree. I worked as a bacteriologist before moving to Miami, Florida.

I spent 48 years in Miami with my husband and two sons. While I worked in Miami as a Certified Rehabilitation Counselor, I also found time to volunteer with the League of Women Voters and was an active member of my Jewish Temple. My last 10 years, before I retired, I worked as an ADA Coordinator (Americans with Disabilities) for Miami-Dade County.

I moved up to The Villages in 2019 to be close to family and was happy to find Hometown Civitan. I have always given back to the community because I believe in people helping people to form a better community and country.
